I. INTRODUCTION

This Code of Business Conduct and Ethics (the “Code of Conduct”) summarizes the ethical standards and key policies that guide the business conduct of Xenon Pharmaceuticals Inc. (together with its subsidiaries, the “Corporation”).

The purpose of this Code of Conduct is to promote ethical conduct and deter wrongdoing. The policies outlined in this Code of Conduct are designed to ensure that the Corporation’s employees, including its officers (collectively referred to herein as “employees”), and members of its board of directors (“directors”) act in accordance with not only the letter but also the spirit of the laws and regulations that apply to the Corporation’s business. The Corporation expects its employees and directors to exercise good judgment to uphold these standards in their day-to-day activities and to comply with all applicable policies and procedures in the course of their relationship with the Corporation.

Employees and directors are expected to read the policies set forth in this Code of Conduct and ensure that they understand and comply with them. All employees and directors are required to abide by the Code of Conduct. The Code of Conduct should also be provided to and followed by the Corporation’s agents and representatives, including consultants, mutatis mutandis. The Code of Conduct does not cover every issue that may arise, but it provides general guidelines for exercising good judgment. Employees, directors, agents and representatives should refer to the Corporation’s other policies and procedures for implementing the general principles set forth below. Any questions about the Code of Conduct or the appropriate course of conduct in a particular situation should be directed to the Corporation’s Chief Executive Officer or President and Chief Financial Officer, as appropriate. Any violations of laws, rules, regulations or this Code of Conduct should be reported immediately. The Corporation will not allow retaliation against an employee or director for such a report made in good faith. Employees and directors who violate this Code of Conduct will be subject to disciplinary action.

II. STANDARDS OF CONDUCT

The Corporation expects all employees and directors to act with the highest standards of honesty and ethical conduct. The Corporation considers honest conduct to be conduct that is free from fraud or deception and is characterized by integrity. The Corporation considers ethical conduct to be conduct conforming to accepted professional standards of conduct. Ethical conduct includes the ethical handling of actual or apparent conflicts of interest between personal and professional relationships, as discussed below.

III. COMPLIANCE WITH LAWS, RULES AND REGULATIONS

Employees and directors must comply with all laws, rules and regulations applicable to the Corporation and its business, as well as applicable Corporation policies and procedures. Each employee and director must acquire appropriate knowledge of the legal requirements relating to his or her duties sufficient to enable him or her to recognize potential problems and to know when to seek advice from the Corporation’s President and Chief Financial Officer. Violations of laws, rules and regulations may subject the violator to individual criminal or civil liability, as well as to discipline by the Corporation. These violations may also subject the Corporation to civil or criminal liability or the loss of business. Any questions as to the applicability of any law, rule or regulation should be directed to the Corporation’s President and Chief Financial Officer.

IV. INSIDER TRADING

The purpose of the Corporation’s insider trading policy is to establish guidelines to ensure that all employees and directors comply with laws prohibiting insider trading. No employee or director in possession of material, non-public information may trade the Corporation’s securities (or advise others to trade) from the time they obtain such information until after adequate public disclosure of the information has been made. Employees and directors who knowingly trade the Corporation's securities while in possession of material, non-public information or who tip information to others will be subject to appropriate disciplinary action up to and including termination. Insider trading is also a crime.

Employees and directors also may not trade in the shares of other companies about which they learn material, non-public information through the course of their employment or service with the Corporation.

Any questions as to whether information is material or has been adequately disclosed should be directed to the Corporation's President and Chief Financial Officer. Additional information regarding insider trading can be found in the Corporation's Insider Trading Policy.

V. CONFLICTS OF INTEREST

A "conflict of interest" occurs when a person's private interest interferes in any way – or even appears to interfere – with the interests of the Corporation as a whole.

A conflict situation can arise when an employee or director takes actions or has interests that may make it difficult to perform his or her Corporation work objectively and effectively. Conflicts of interest may also arise when an employee or director, or a member of his or her family, receives improper personal benefits as a result of his or her position with the Corporation. Loans to, or guarantees of obligations of, such persons are of special concern.

All directors and executive officers of the Corporation will disclose any material transaction or relationship that reasonably could be expected to give rise to such a conflict to the Chair of the Audit Committee of the Corporation. No action may be taken with respect to such transaction or party unless and until such action has been approved by the Audit Committee.

Conflicts of interest are prohibited as a matter of Corporation policy. The mere existence of a relationship with outside firms is not automatically prohibited. Nonetheless, conflicts of interest may not always be clear, so if a question arises, higher levels of management or the Corporation's Audit Committee should be consulted. Any employee or director who becomes aware of a conflict or a potential conflict should bring it to the attention of a supervisor, manager or other appropriate persons within the Corporation.

In certain exceptional circumstances, a situation involving a conflict of interest may be permitted. See Section XXIX regarding waivers of this Code of Conduct. Additional information regarding conflicts of interest can be found in the Corporation's Related Person Transactions Policy.

VI. NO LOANS TO DIRECTORS OR OFFICERS

It is the policy of the Corporation not to extend or maintain credit, to arrange for the extension of credit, or to renew an extension of credit, in the form of a personal loan to or for any director or officer of the Corporation. Any questions about whether a loan has been made to a director or officer in violation of this policy should be directed to the Corporation's President and Chief Financial Officer.

VII. OUTSIDE DIRECTORSHIPS AND OTHER OUTSIDE ACTIVITIES

Although an employee's activities outside the Corporation are not necessarily a conflict of interest, a conflict could arise depending upon the employee's position with the Corporation and the Corporation's relationship with the other employer or activity. Outside activities may also be a conflict of interest if they cause, or are perceived to cause, an employee to choose between that interest and the interests of the Corporation.

An employee may not serve as a director, partner, employee of or consultant to, or otherwise work for or receive compensation for personal services from, any affiliate, customer, partner, supplier, distributor, reseller, licensee or competitor of the Corporation or any other business entity that does or seeks to do business with the Corporation. In certain exceptional circumstances, an executive officer may be permitted to serve as a director of such an entity (but in no circumstances will an employee be permitted to serve as a director of a competitor of the Corporation). See Section XXIX regarding waivers of this Code of Conduct. Serving in such a capacity for a company that is not an affiliate, customer, partner, supplier, distributor, reseller, licensee or competitor of the Corporation may be permitted, but such activities must be approved in advance by the employee's supervisor, the President and Chief Financial Officer and the Chief Executive Officer.

Employees are encouraged to serve as a director, trustee or officer of non-profit organizations in their individual capacity and on their own time, but they must obtain prior approval from the Corporation's President and Chief Executive Officer to do so as a representative of the Corporation.

The guidelines in this Section VII are not applicable to directors that do not also serve in management positions within the Corporation.

VIII. CORPORATE OPPORTUNITIES

Employees and directors are prohibited from:

- (i) Personally taking for themselves opportunities that are discovered through the use of corporate property, information or position;
- (ii) Using corporate property, information or position for personal gain; and
- (iii) Competing with the Corporation.

In the interest of clarifying the definition of "Competing with the Corporation," if any member of the board of directors of the Corporation who is also a partner or employee of an entity that is a holder of the Corporation's common shares, or an employee of an entity that manages such an entity (each, a "Fund"), acquires knowledge of an opportunity of interest for both the Corporation and such Fund other than in connection with such individual's service as a member of the board of directors of the Corporation (including, if applicable, such board member acquiring such knowledge in such individual's capacity as a partner or employee of the Fund or the manager or general partner of a Fund), then, provided that such director has acted in good faith, such an event shall be deemed not to be "Competing with the Corporation" under this Section VIII.

Employees and directors owe a duty to the Corporation to advance its legitimate interests when the opportunity to do so in a legal and ethical manner arises.

IX. FAIR DEALING

The Corporation seeks to excel while operating fairly and honestly, never through unethical or illegal business practices. Each employee and director should endeavor to deal fairly with the Corporation's shareholders, customers, suppliers, competitors and employees. No employee or director should take unfair advantage of anyone through manipulation, concealment, abuse of privileged information, misrepresentation of material facts, or any other unfair dealing practices.

X. CUSTOMER RELATIONSHIPS

Employees must act in a manner that creates value for the Corporation's customers and helps to build a relationship based upon trust. The Corporation and its employees have built up significant goodwill in the course of developing customer relationships. This goodwill is one of our most important assets, and Corporation employees must act to preserve and enhance the Corporation's reputation.

XI. SUPPLIER RELATIONSHIPS

The Corporation's suppliers make significant contributions to the Corporation's success. To create an environment where the Corporation's suppliers have an incentive to work with the Corporation, suppliers must be confident that they will be treated lawfully and in an ethical manner. The Corporation's policy is to purchase supplies based on need, quality, service, price and terms and conditions. The Corporation's policy is to select significant suppliers or enter into significant supplier agreements through a competitive bid process where practicable. In selecting suppliers, the Corporation does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, sexual preference, marital status, medical condition, veteran status, physical or mental disability, or any other characteristic protected by applicable law. A supplier to the Corporation is generally free to sell its products or services to any other party, including the Corporation's competitors. In some cases where the products or services have been designed, fabricated, or developed to the Corporation's specifications, the agreement between the parties may contain restrictions on sales.

XII. EXPORT CONTROLS

The Corporation requires compliance with laws and regulations governing export controls in Canada, the United States and in the countries where the Corporation conducts its business. A number of countries maintain controls on the destinations to which products may be exported. These laws seek to protect national security and promote foreign policy considerations of those countries by prohibiting transactions with other countries, governments, groups, and persons ("Sanctioned Parties") engaged in terrorism, narcotics trafficking, proliferation of weapons of mass destruction, human rights abuses, and destabilizing governments of certain countries. Sanctions typically restrict import and export of goods or services, investments, and other dealings with Sanctioned Parties. Compliance with these laws is critical to the Corporation's operations, and employees and directors must be aware of and comply with applicable laws and Corporation policy. Any questions about export control laws and regulations should be directed to the Corporation's President and Chief Financial Officer.

XIII. GIFTS AND ENTERTAINMENT

Business gifts and entertainment are designed to build goodwill and sound working relationships among business partners. A problem may arise if:

- (i) The receipt by one of our employees of a gift or entertainment would compromise, or could reasonably be viewed as compromising, that person's ability to make objective and fair business decisions on behalf of the Corporation; or
- (ii) The offering by one of our employees of a gift or entertainment would appear to be an attempt to obtain business through improper means or to gain any special advantage in our business relationships, or could reasonably be viewed as such an attempt.

Employees must use good judgment and ensure there is no violation of these principles. No gift or entertainment should be given or accepted by any Corporation employee, family member of an employee or agent unless it: (1) is not a cash gift, (2) is consistent with customary business practices, (3) is not excessive in value, (4) cannot be construed as a bribe or payoff, (5) does not violate any laws or regulations and (6) is not one of a series of small gifts or entertainments that can be construed as part of a larger, expensive gift. Any questions about whether any gifts or proposed gifts are appropriate should be directed to the Corporation's President and Chief Financial Officer.

XIV. GOVERNMENT BUSINESS

Employees should understand that special requirements may apply when contracting with any governmental body (including national, state, provincial, municipal, or other similar governmental divisions on local jurisdictions). Because government officials are obligated to follow specific codes of conduct and laws, special care must be taken in government procurement. Some key requirements for doing business with government are:

- (i) Accurately representing which of the Corporation's products are covered by government contracts;
- (ii) Not improperly soliciting or obtaining confidential information, such as sealed competitors' bids, from government officials prior to the award of a contract; and
- (iii) Hiring present and former government personnel may only occur in compliance with applicable laws and regulations (as well as consulting the Corporation's President and Chief Financial Officer).

When dealing with public officials, employees and directors must avoid any activity that is or appears illegal or unethical. Promising, offering or giving of favors, gratuities or gifts, including meals, entertainment, transportation, and lodging, to government officials, is restricted by law. Employees and directors must obtain pre-approval from the Corporation's President and Chief Financial Officer before providing anything of value to a government official or employee. The foregoing does not apply to lawful personal political contributions.

In addition, the U.S. Foreign Corrupt Practices Act prohibits giving anything of value, directly or indirectly, to officials of foreign governments or foreign political candidates in order to obtain or retain business. Illegal payments to government officials of any country are strictly prohibited. Employees and directors must also comply with the Corruption of Foreign Public Officials Act.

Additional information regarding conflicts of interest can be found in the Corporation's Global Anti-Corruption Laws Policy.

XV. POLITICAL CONTRIBUTIONS

It is the Corporation's policy to comply fully with all local, provincial, federal, foreign and other applicable laws, rules and regulations regarding political contributions. The Corporation's funds or assets must not be used for, or be contributed to, political campaigns or political practices under any circumstances without the prior written approval of the Corporation's Chief Executive Officer and President and Chief Financial Officer.

XVI. PROTECTION AND PROPER USE OF CORPORATION ASSETS

Theft, carelessness and waste have a direct impact on the Corporation's profitability. Employees and directors should protect the Corporation's assets and ensure their efficient use. All Corporation assets should be used for legitimate business purposes.

Corporation assets include intellectual property such as patents, trademarks, copyrights, business and marketing plans, engineering and manufacturing ideas, designs, salary information and any unpublished financial data and reports. Unauthorized use or distribution of this information is a violation of Corporation policy. The Corporation's intellectual property is one of its most important business assets and each employee and director, pursuant to the employment agreement, confidentiality agreement or other applicable agreement, is under an obligation to the Corporation to safeguard intellectual property as confidential information that is proprietary to the Corporation.

Every person is personally responsible for protecting and appropriately using the Corporation's property that is entrusted to them. In addition to confidential or proprietary information and intellectual property, the Corporation's assets include physical assets such as equipment and facilities, as well as its financial resources, information and communications systems, computer and telephonic equipment and supplies. Employees must be accountable for all the Corporation's assets assigned to them and they must maintain the assets in good condition at all times and return them promptly when asked to do so. Any dispositions of the Corporation's assets must be for the benefit of the Corporation and not for personal benefit.

XVII. USE OF COMPUTERS AND OTHER EQUIPMENT

The Corporation strives to furnish employees with the equipment necessary to efficiently and effectively perform their jobs. Employees must care for that equipment and use it responsibly and only for the Corporation's business purposes. If employees use the Corporation equipment at their home or off site, precautions must be taken to protect such Corporation equipment from theft or damage. Employees must immediately return all Corporation equipment when their employment relationship with the Corporation ends. While computers and other electronic devices are made accessible to employees to assist them to perform their jobs and to promote our interests, all such computers and electronic devices, whether used entirely or partially on the Corporation's premises or with the aid of the Corporation's equipment or resources, must remain fully accessible to the Corporation and will remain the sole and exclusive property of the Corporation.

Employees should not maintain any expectation of privacy with respect to any electronic communications made using Corporation equipment. To the extent permitted by applicable law, the Corporation retains the right to gain access to any such information, at any time, with or without your knowledge, consent or approval.

XVIII. USE OF SOFTWARE

All software used by employees to conduct the Corporation's business must be appropriately licensed. Employees should never make or use illegal or unauthorized copies of any software, whether in the office, at home, or on the road, since doing so may constitute copyright infringement and may expose the employee and the Corporation to potential civil and criminal liability. The Corporation's information technology department may inspect the Corporation's computers periodically to verify that only approved and licensed software has been installed. Any non-licensed/supported software will be removed.

XIX. USE OF ELECTRONIC COMMUNICATIONS

Employees must use electronic communication devices in a legal, ethical, and appropriate manner. Electronic communications devices include computers, e-mail, connections to the Internet, intranet and extranet and any other public or private networks, voice mail, video conferencing, facsimiles, telephones or future types of electronic communication. Employees may not post or discuss information concerning the Corporation's products or business on the Internet without the prior written consent of the Corporation's Chief Executive Officer or President and Chief Financial Officer. It is not possible to identify every standard and rule applicable to the use of electronic communications devices. Employees are therefore encouraged to use sound judgment whenever using any feature of the Corporation's communications systems.

XX. CONFIDENTIALITY

Information about the Corporation's business activities, technology, plans and strategies, which has not been publicly disclosed by the Corporation or is not publicly available, is confidential. Employees and directors will conduct themselves in a manner that protects and safeguards the Corporation's confidential information.

Employees and directors should maintain the confidentiality of information entrusted to them by the Corporation or its affiliates, customers, partners, distributors and suppliers, except when disclosure is specifically authorized by the Corporation's Chief Executive Officer or President and Chief Financial Officer or required by law.

Confidential information includes all non-public information that might be of use to competitors, or harmful to the Corporation or its affiliates, customers, partners, distributors and suppliers if disclosed. Any questions about whether information is confidential should be directed to the Corporation's Chief Executive Officer or President and Chief Financial Officer.

XXI. RECORDKEEPING

All of the Corporation's books, records, accounts and financial statements must be maintained in reasonable detail, must appropriately reflect the transactions and matters to which they relate and must conform both to applicable legal requirements and to the Corporation's system of internal controls. All assets of the Corporation must be carefully and properly accounted for. The making of false or misleading records or documentation is strictly prohibited. Unrecorded funds or assets should not be maintained.

The Corporation complies with all laws and regulations regarding the preservation of records. Records should be retained or destroyed only in accordance with the Corporation's document retention policies. Any questions about these policies should be directed to the Corporation's President and Chief Financial Officer.

XXII. RECORDS ON LEGAL HOLD

A legal hold suspends all document destruction procedures in order to preserve appropriate records under special circumstances, such as litigation or government investigations. The Corporation's President and Chief Financial Officer determines and identifies what types of Corporation records or documents are required to be placed under a legal hold and will notify employees if a legal hold is placed on records for which they are responsible. Employees must not destroy, alter or modify records or supporting documents that have been placed under a legal hold under any circumstances. A legal hold remains effective until it is officially released in writing by the Corporation's President and Chief Financial Officer. If an employee is unsure whether a document has been placed under a legal hold, such employee should preserve and protect that document while the President & Chief Financial Officer is contacted.

XXIII. DISCLOSURE

The information in the Corporation's public communications, including filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission, must be full, fair, accurate, timely and understandable. All employees and directors are responsible for acting in furtherance of this policy. In particular, each employee and director is responsible for complying with the Corporation's disclosure controls and procedures and internal controls for financial reporting. Any questions concerning the Corporation's disclosure controls and procedures and internal controls for financial reporting should be directed to the Corporation's President and Chief Financial Officer.

Anyone that believes that questionable accounting or auditing conduct or practices have occurred or are occurring should refer to the Corporation's Whistleblower Policy Regarding Reporting of Accounting and Auditing Matters.

XXIV. OUTSIDE COMMUNICATIONS

The Corporation has established specific policies regarding who may communicate information to the public, the press and the financial analyst communities:

- (i) The Corporation's Chief Executive Officer, President and Chief Financial Officer and investor relations personnel are official spokespeople for financial matters.
- (ii) The Corporation's executive team or corporate communications personnel are official spokespeople for public comment, press, marketing, technical and other such information.
- (iii) All communications made to public audiences, including formal communications and presentations made to investors, customers or the press, require prior approval in accordance with the Corporation's established policies for such communications, including review by investor relations or corporate communications personnel, as applicable, with final review by the Corporation's Chief Executive Officer or President and Chief Financial Officer, who will ensure that all necessary review is undertaken.

These designees are the only people who may communicate externally on behalf of the Corporation. Employees and directors should refer all inquiries or calls from the press, from shareholders or from financial analysts to the investor relations department or the Corporation's President and Chief Financial Officer, who will see that the inquiry is directed to the appropriate authority within the Corporation.

Employees and directors may not publish or make public statements outside the scope of employment with or service to the Corporation that might be perceived or construed as attributable to the Corporation without preapproval from the Corporation's Chief Executive Officer or President and Chief Financial Officer, as appropriate. Any such statement must include the Corporation's standard disclaimer that the publication or statement represents the views of the specific author and not of the Corporation.

XXV. DISCRIMINATION AND HARASSMENT

The diversity of the Corporation's employees is a tremendous asset. We are firmly committed to providing equal opportunity in all aspects of employment and will not tolerate any illegal discrimination or harassment of any kind. Examples include derogatory comments based on racial or ethnic characteristics and unwelcome sexual advances.

XXVI. HEALTH AND SAFETY

The Corporation strives to provide each employee with a safe and healthy work environment. Each employee has responsibility for maintaining a safe and healthy workplace for all employees by following safety and health rules and practices and reporting accidents, injuries and unsafe equipment, practices or conditions.

Violence and threatening behavior are not permitted. Employees should report to work in condition to perform their duties, free from the influence of illegal drugs, controlled substances or alcohol. The use or possession of illegal drugs or the intentional misuse of any legal or medically prescribed drugs in the workplace or at Corporation functions will not be tolerated.

XXVII. COMPLIANCE STANDARDS AND PROCEDURES

No code of conduct and ethics can replace the thoughtful behavior of an ethical employee or director or provide definitive answers to all questions. Since the Corporation cannot anticipate every potential situation, certain policies and procedures have been put in place to help employees and directors approach questions or problems as they arise.

A. Designated Ethics Officer

The Corporation's President and Chief Financial Officer has been designated as the Corporation's Ethics Officer with responsibility for overseeing and monitoring compliance with the Code of Conduct. The Ethics Officer reports directly to the Chief Executive Officer with respect to these matters and also will make periodic reports to the Corporation's Audit Committee regarding the implementation and effectiveness of this Code of Conduct as well as the policies and procedures put in place to ensure compliance with the Code of Conduct.

B. Seeking Guidance

Employees and directors are encouraged to seek guidance from supervisors, managers or other appropriate personnel when in doubt about the best course of action to take in a particular situation. In most instances, questions regarding the Code of Conduct should be brought to the attention of the Corporation's President and Chief Financial Officer.

C. Reporting Violations

If an employee or director knows of or suspects a violation of the Code of Conduct, or of applicable laws and regulations, he or she must report it immediately to the Corporation's Chief Executive Officer or President and Chief Financial Officer, as appropriate. If the situation warrants or requires it, the reporting person's identity will be kept anonymous to the extent legally permitted and practical.

Anyone that believes that questionable accounting or auditing conduct or practice have occurred or are occurring should refer to the Corporation's Whistleblower Policy Regarding Reporting of Accounting and Auditing Matters.

Non-employees may report violations or suspected violations of the Code of Conduct in the following ways:

- a) Anonymously (through either Secure Web Form or voicemail) at <https://www.whistleblowerservices.com/xene>;
- b) Via the Corporation's telephone hotline at 1-855-216-8974
- c) Via regular mail to Xenon Pharmaceuticals Inc.

Attn: Chief Executive Officer

D. No Retaliation

Any employee or director who observes possible unethical or illegal conduct is encouraged to report his or her concerns. Reprisal, threats, retribution or retaliation against any person who has in good faith reported a violation or suspected violation of law, this Code of Conduct or other Corporation policies, or against any person who is assisting in any investigation or process with respect to such a violation, is prohibited.

Any employees involved in retaliation will be subject to serious disciplinary action by the Corporation. Furthermore, the Corporation could be subject to criminal or civil actions for acts of retaliation against employees who "blow the whistle" on U.S. federal securities law violations and other federal offenses.

E. Investigations

Reported violations will be promptly investigated. The Corporation's board of directors or its designated committee will be responsible for investigating violations and determining appropriate disciplinary action for matters involving members of the board of directors or executive officers. The board of directors or its designated committee may designate others to conduct or manage investigations on its behalf and recommend disciplinary action. Subject to the general authority of the board of directors to administer this Code of Conduct, the President and Chief Financial Officer will investigate violations (including the initiation of any such investigation) and determining appropriate disciplinary action for other employees, agents and contractors and the President and Chief Financial Officer may designate others to conduct or manage investigations on his behalf and recommend disciplinary action. The board of directors reserves the right to investigate violations and determine appropriate disciplinary action on its own or to designate others to do so in place of, or in addition to, the President and Chief Financial Officer. It is imperative that the person reporting the violation not conduct an investigation on his or her own. However, employees and directors are expected to cooperate fully with any investigation made by the Corporation into reported violations.

F. Discipline/Penalties

Employees and directors who violate the laws or regulations governing the Corporation's business, this Code of Conduct, or any other Corporation policy, procedure or requirement may be subject to disciplinary action, up to and including termination. Employees and directors who have knowledge of a violation and fail to move promptly to report or correct it, or who direct or approve violations, may also be subject to disciplinary action, up to and including termination.

Furthermore, violations of some provisions of this Code of Conduct are illegal and may subject the employee or director to civil and criminal liability.

XXVIII. GENERAL COMPLIANCE GUIDELINES

We must all work to ensure prompt and consistent action against violations of this Code of Conduct. However, in some situations it is difficult to know if a violation has occurred. Since we cannot anticipate every situation that will arise, it is important that we have a way to approach a new question or problem. These are the steps to keep in mind:

- (i) Make sure you have all the facts possible. To reach the right solutions, we must be as fully informed as possible.
- (ii) Ask yourself: What specifically am I being asked to do? Does it seem unethical or improper? This will enable you to focus on the specific question you are faced with, and the alternatives you have. Use your judgment and common sense; if something seems unethical or improper, follow up on it.
- (iii) Clarify your responsibility and role. In most situations, there is shared responsibility. Are your colleagues informed? It may help to get others involved and discuss the problem.
- (iv) Discuss the problem with your manager. This is the basic guidance for all situations. In many cases, your manager will be more knowledgeable about the question, and will appreciate being brought into the decision-making process. Remember that it is your manager's responsibility to help solve problems.

- (v) Seek help from Corporation resources. If you do not feel comfortable approaching your manager with your question, discuss it with the Corporation's President and Chief Financial Officer.
- (vi) You may report ethical violations in confidence and without fear of retaliation. If you find yourself in a situation that requires that your identity be kept confidential, your anonymity will be protected to the extent possible. The Corporation does not permit retaliation of any kind against employees for good faith reports of ethical violations.
- (vii) Always ask first, act later when confronted with an ethical issue: If you are unsure of what to do in any situation, seek guidance before you act.

XXIX. AMENDMENT, MODIFICATION AND WAIVER

This Code of Conduct may be amended or modified by the Corporation's board of directors or a committee of the board of directors.

Any amendment or waiver of this Code of Conduct for a director, executive officer or any financial or accounting officer at the level of the principal accounting officer or controller or above, may be made only by the board of directors, and must be promptly disclosed to shareholders if and as required by applicable law or the rules of the share exchange on which the Corporation's shares are traded. Waivers with respect to other employees or applicable contractors may be made only by the Corporation's Chief Executive Officer or President and Chief Financial Officer, as applicable. Any waiver of this Code of Conduct with respect to a conflict of interest transaction required to be disclosed pursuant to Item 404 of Regulation S-K promulgated under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, must be approved in advance by the Corporation's Audit Committee.
